Ten Cents

Anxious Reader:

Your question is partially answered in today's editorial. But more specifically, READERS DIGEST, current issue, quotes from the Chamber of Commerce of the United States: "According to government figures, between 1967 and 1973 the cost of food went up 34 percent; housing 32 percent; clothing 26 percent. But the biggest jump was the cost of government — 62 percent."

"Maybe we consumers are boycotting the wrong thing?"

Waste Reduction Could Help

When the proposed hike in hourly minimum pay to $2.20 reaches the President, he is expected to veto it although an increase is desperately needed.

Those who have to subsist on $1.65 an hour — the current minimum — must be among the underprivileged workers of our state in light of the spiraling cost of living that is unwanted and unneeded.

Unneeded? Take a look!

The rising living cost reflects the profligacy of this supposedly free government.

It reflects the degree of waste in this government's scatter-brained plans for revamping the world.

It reflects the wasteful welfare programs from which taxpayers' money is stolen as it passes through hands of those never tested for honesty nor ability. It goes to shore up foreign governments that are no more favorable to freedom and no more honest in the use of our funds than the governments that preceded them without our support.

It reflects the money involved in supplying arms to nations that have used them against us and our allies.

Some of this waste is the funds supplied to other nations to buy our foodstuffs, and in doing so, creates a shortage in the United States, and, in turn, reflects the higher prices we all pay for putting food on our table.

Our cost of living, which includes too high taxes, has increased because lawmakers have reduced the tax income by making it possible for a number of large corporations to avert paying their full share of their taxes.

This privilege was gained, in some cases, after huge contributions were made in support of political individuals or a political party. On one hand it reduces the nation's tax income total making it necessary for you and me to pay more. On the other hand the political contributions have been earmarked as a cost of doing business and the service or commodity supplied by the corporation costs you and me more. It's arranged so that we are the double jeopardy fall-guys.

As a side thought, there would be considerable merit to a law that would deny any business firm to make a political contribution. If the corporation board chairman wanted a party or individual aided, he could make whatever contribution he felt proper — provided he paid it from his tax-paid income. Full and complete disclosure, of course, is a must.

But back to the waste of our resources by those who are elected to represent us but who seem, so often, to represent forces that would destroy our system. They give millions to those who hijack our planes and who seize our tunaboats.

They pay millions in welfare to striking workers in the farm industry while crops rot and the already scarce market is driving prices beyond the reach of all except rich unionists, politicians eating on publicly paid credit cards, and corporation board chairmen whose huge annual income adds to the cost of the box of cereal your children need for breakfast.

And equally discouraging, they support inflation-causing deficit spending.

Now all they have to declare is that the $2.20 minimum is inflationary. When they do they will be admitting that it may be inflationary to them because the money you get and spend can't be spent by them.

But the agency that proposed the $2.20 minimum apparently had a plan by which they could give it to the workers and take it away.

Said (paraphrased) the Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) proponent of the higher minimum. "We must make the minimum high enough for welfare recipients to want to leave welfare programs and go to work."

All HEW will succeed in doing is to increase the cost of product and service. Then they'll have to raise welfare contributions to meet the new, higher living costs.

If they were to take an objective view, they would use their energy to quit wasting our nation's resources — which includes the citizen income and stabilize the value of U.S. money.

That would end the leap-frogging rat-race our nation's policy-makers have played with our economy.

Teachers Reject Increase

One of the friendliest show-ups got excited. Both sides downs ever came to pass Mon-thanked the other for their day night at the regular meet-consideration.

So the teachers have declared an impasse in negotiations, and a balanced fact-finding committee will be appointed to make recommendations.

On the committee will be a neutral party, one representative of the board, and one of the teachers.

The package presented by the teachers earlier called for a 7.5 per cent hike for the next two years and would have cost the district an estimated $2.5 million. The amended request would cost $1.45 million.

The district's position would cost about $1 million.

The district's position is that a 4.5 per cent hike is all that can be born by a "rock-bottom" budget. John Barrons, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, joined the organization intentent for business service in April when Westlands opened, indicated that there just ed in San Diego. It now has aren't the funds available to more than 13 million dollars grant a bigger increase.

But it was a friendly con-

on deposit.

Broadway Plan Approved

NO JAIL—Fred Anderson, left, who earned local fame years ago when he was sent to jail for three days over a carport controversy, last week moved the structure back three feet to comply with the law, rather than go to jail again, Anderson, who heads the Lemon Grove Citizen's Advisory Committee, said he hopes to show how ridiculous the laws are in the City of San Diego, where the house and carport are located. The carport is now large enough for a motorcycle or compact car.

Two Arrested On Marijuana Charges

A National City man and his female companion were arrested on drug charges in Spring Valley last week.

Taken into custody on charges of possession of marijuana, possession of marijuana for sale, and possession of restricted dangerous drugs was Peter S. Gogue, 21, of National City. Charged with possession of marijuana and possession of marijuana for sale was Shirley L. McZeal, 21, of San Diego.

ASTREA, the Sheriff's Department helicopter, while patrolling an isolated area of Spring Valley, radioed ground units of a vehicle parked at the end of Sangamon st. Ground units responded to the call to check on the welfare of the occupants of the vehicle.

Deputies arriving on the scene contacted the two suspects and noted a beer can and two tire irons inside the vehicle. Because Gogue fit the description of a suspect in another case who had apparently attacked a victim with a tire iron after the victim had interrupted the burglary of an automobile, deputies asked to search the car for possible stolen goods.

Gogue consented, reports indicated, and deputies discovered amphetamine tablets, one "kilo" of marijuana, and a scale commonly used by black market dealers.

VdO Planners Finish Prelim. Goal Review

The Valle de Oro Planning Association has completed the preliminary review of their goals and have now turned them over to the coordinating committee. The committee will go over the goals with the County staff through August, and submit a final draft to the Association's next meeting September 12.

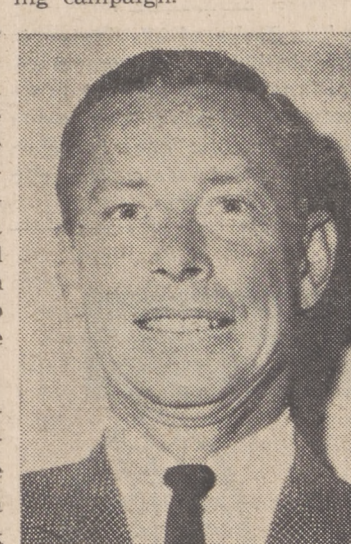

The final goals will be mailed to the entire membership before the meeting, which will be open to the public for comments and suggestions. If the goals are approved at the community meeting, they will be sent to the County Planning Commission and Board of Supervisors for final approval.

The whole process will take approximately two months according to Roy Dieter, president of the Association. "But during that time we have the problem of continuing construction and the objective of our overall goal which is to retain a semi-rural atmosphere in the area," said Dieter.

Rita Wells, membership chairman, reported that the chamber membership has reached 149.

Guest, Boyd Head East County Drive

Robert L. Guest, branch manager of the Lemon Grove United States National Bank, has been named East County area chairman for the 1973 United Way annual fund raising campaign.

Serving with Guest as his vice-chairman is James Boyd, also of Lemon Grove, who is agent for the State Farm Insurance Co.

Guest, who is currently president of Lemon Grove Rotary Club, was United Way campaign chairman in Lemon Grove last year. Boyd was Lemon Grove United Way campaign chairman in 1971.

His accomplice was described as a Mexican male, 5-10, 150 pounds, with black hair.

A 16-year old San Diego juvenile was arrested in Spring Valley last week and was charged with the armed robbery of Well's Texaco at 2835 Sweetwater rd., Spring Valley.

According to reports from the Sheriff's Department, a robber armed with a 5-inch folding knife held up gas station attendant Richard A. Admire shortly before 9:30 p.m. last Wednesday.

After getting about $50 in cash, the bandit cut the station's telephone line and fled on a black motorcycle.

The call went out over the Sheriff's Department radio system at 9:31 p.m., and ASTREA, the helicopter patrol which was in the Casa de Oro area at the time, was on the scene in seconds.

Piloting the bird was Deputy Milos Koutsky, who brought the helicopter in close for a good look, as observer Deputy Douglas Huse picked up a motorcycle heading north on Bancroft, away from the scene.

The helicopter followed the motorcycle and directed ground unit Deputy Vern Lemke until the stop was made on Campo rd. in Casa de Oro.

The cyclist fit the description given by the gas station attendant and was arrested and taken to juvenile hall.

LG Planning Assoc. OK's Land Use Plans

The Lemon Grove Planning Association has approved a land use plan for the area south of the Broadway Corridor. The corridor itself and San Miguel extensions go the part of Lemon Grove north of Highway 94 were approved at the last meeting.

The small area west of the proposed College ave. extension was the subject of much discussion at the meeting. Questions were first raised as to whether the area would have easy access to a community park or recreation center. It was finally approved with a "park" designation in the area of Hibiscus canyon.

This action doesn't commit anyone to the purchase of the land, but means that at some future date it will be a park or other type of recreation area.

Robbers Take $45

A Spring Valley U-Tot-Em store was the victim of an armed robbery last week, as two suspects apparently fled in a waiting automobile with $45 in cash.

According to reports from the Sheriff's Department, the two suspects entered the store at 11:53 p.m. Monday night.

The first suspect display a handgun, demanding money, then told the clerk to lie down in the rear of the store. He took the money, in a brown paper bag, ripped the store telephone off the wall, smashed the glass in the door, and ran a short distance on foot, before leaving at a high rate of speed in an automobile.

The first suspect was described as a Mexican male, 18 years old, 5-5, 160 pounds, black hair, green jacket, dark blue pants, and probably right-handed.

According to reports from the Sheriff's Department, a man, later identified as Daniel T. Collins, 24, of El Cajon, was observed to be lying down in the parking lot of a bar in the 7800 block of Broadway in Lemon Grove.

When deputies contacted the suspect, he told them that he had injured his knee while playing pool. Due to his apparent drunken condition, deputies arrested him on a drunk-in-public charge.

During a routine search for offensive weapons, deputies discovered seven amphetamine tablets, and the drug charge was added.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Have you written your Senators and Congressmen today to say "Help!—The U.S. Government is robbing me. Stop it!"?

Senator Harry F. Byrd, Jr., of Virginia on June 16, 1973 gave out some shocking and startling statistics to prove it, saying:

- 1) Federal spending will increase $19 billion next year.
- 2) Inflation and taxes will increase.
- 3) Interest on our national debt of $472 billion will cost 17 cents out of every tax dollar—for just interest alone.

In addition to Senator Byrd's figures, the government has borrowed $40.4 billion from the sacred Social Security trust funds and blown it in on unnecessary projects.

Government spending beyond income is causing a frightening increase in inflation. Anyone for a $10.00 apple?

Sincerely,

C.C. Moseley, President
Grand Central Industrial Centre, Glendale

Dear Editor:

As President of the San Diego Health Care Facilities Association, among whose membership is a health care facility in your community, I want to take this opportunity to endorse and support the recent action of the County Board of Supervisors in ordering a phase-out of the antiquated Edgemoor Geriatric Hospital.

This facility requires the local taxpayer to spend more than one million dollars every year for an extra, unnecessary subsidy to maintain patients who can be well taken care of in private facilities located in dozens of communities.

BBQ Dinner Planned

The Harbison Canyon Volunteer Fire Department will hold its annual Bar-B-Q Sunday at Big Oak Ranch, 1723 Harbison Canyon rd.

A barbecue dinner will be served from noon until 5 p.m. for $2.50. The price includes the use of all the facilities including entertainment by the Steamboat Springs and swimming. Children under 12 will be charged $1.50.

HCVFD is entirely volunteer and one of the few remaining Fire Departments that receives no tax support. Support comes from the Bar-B-Q and donations.

Door prizes, a bake sale, refreshment booths and dancing are part planned activities.

throughout the county, including yours.

These private facilities, incidentally, provide many thousands of tax dollars to their communities, to San Diego County, to the State of California and to the federal government, as well as providing jobs to the local residents.

Additionally, there is a requirement that the county spend over a quarter-million dollars within the next few months to bring Edgemoor up to the standards of the Life Safety Code — and even then it will still fall short of the standards required for the modern private facility.

In view of these fiscal realities, we believe that the Supervisors make a superior decision to discontinue operation of Edgemoor, a luxury that the overburdened taxpayers cannot and should not afford.

Sincerely,

K. Lyle Isaacs
President

CYA College Program Aids Youth Parole

A newly-completed research study has indicated that a program of college education for California Youth Authority wards substantially increases their chances of succeeding on parole without renewed violations of the law.

The study involved 127 wards who were enrolled at Columbia College near Sonoma while they were assigned to the CYA's nearby Fricot Ranch School. The young men attended classes at the college campus between 1969 and 1971.

The study, conducted by the CYA's Division of Research and Development, showed that only 9 percent of the students violated parole during the first 15 months after they were released, compared with a statewide rate of 28 percent for CYA parolees in the same age grouping.

St. John's Woman's Club Meets Monday

'Bug Line' is YMCA Awareness Program

You may have wondered who those happy teenagers in that crazy looking bus you saw last week were.

The bus is commonly known as the "Bug Line." The young people inside are participants in San Diego City and County YMCA's Youth Involvement and Awareness program, which began its second session Monday.

The three-week program, being offered by the Heartland YMCA among other branches, is designed to offer youth, ages 11-18, of different racial and cultural backgrounds the opportunity to exchange ideas and become aware of various job opportunities in local businesses. Participants will also learn about many of the social service agencies in San Diego County.

There is no cost for the program. Funds are provided by the San Diego Council on Youth Opportunity. Lunch is provided daily. Every other day is a recreation day, which will include individual and team sports, beach swims, and other recreational activities. The program is co-ed.

At the end of the three-week session an overnight camping trip takes place at the YMCA Aquatic Park in Carlsbad.

The "Bug Line" makes pickups from the following locations: 70th st. and El Cajon blvd. at noon; Heartland YMCA at 12:15 p.m.

Rehearsals For Miguel Band Slated

All new and returning students, staff members and section leaders will begin a three week post session rehearsal for the 1973-74 Mt. Miguel High School marching band Monday.

The first two weeks of the rehearsals are to be held at school while the third week will be spent at Camp Mataguay Boy Scout Camp in the Laguna Mountains.

The Matador musicians are commencing work for a rigorous schedule that includes a chance at performing in the Pasadena Tournament of Roses parade for the sixth time, more than any other San Diego area band.

Band Director Dean Immel, beginning his third year at Mt. Miguel, will hold rehearsals from 8 a.m. until noon for the two-week school session.

All groups in the band are expected to be larger than last year with total enrollment seen at approximately 180, according to Immel. The Matadors will display their full complement during concerts, football games and non-competition parades and will march a 98-piece band for competition parades this year.

A tentative slate of appearances lists ten football games, six concerts and two various special events. The Matadors will perform at the San Diego Chargers football game, Sept. 23.

Wilson Wants Tijuana Mayor At CPO Meets

Mayor Pete Wilson last week proposed that the Mayor of Tijuana be invited to participate on a regular basis in the deliberations and discussions of the Board of Directors of the Comprehensive Planning Organization of San Diego County.

"Suffice it to say that as both our communities experience pressures for growth, our mutual concerns and the need for international regional cooperation can only intensify," Wilson said in a letter to Richard Huff, CPO Executive Director and Secretary.

"In order that the many mutual concerns of our two communities be turned into opportunities for cooperation and mutual advantage, I propose that CPO extend to the office of the Mayor of Tijuana, the Honorable Marco Antonio Bolanos-Cacho, an invitation to participate either personally or by representative in the deliberations of the CPO Board of Directors," the Mayor said.

"Cooperation cannot begin without communication. The exchange of information possible from having Mayor Bolanos-Cacho or his representative attend our board meetings cannot but prove extremely valuable to all concerned."

Wilson cited flood control problems, air and water pollution and health problems as areas of mutual concern requiring increased cooperation between the governments of San Diego County and the City of Tijuana.

Wilson asked Huff to undertake the necessary steps to permit Tijuana's major to attend the CPO meetings.

More Than 9,000 Have High Blood Pressure

Basic statistics just released on "Operation Heart Alert" indicate that San Diego County's life-style is considerably healthier than the national average.

Of the 41,765 participants in the June 23 county wide screening, nearly 9,700 or 23.2 percent were referred to the physicians because of high blood pressure. This compares with the national average of 28 percent. In addition, 27 percent were found to be overweight — 70 percent were of normal weight, 7 percent were thin. In massive screenings, held elsewhere in the country, 35 to 40 percent were described as being overweight.

Dr. Gerald Person, general chairman of "Operation Heart Alert" said that these figures seem to indicate that San Diegans are more health-minded than many other Americans and give more attention to proper diet and adequate exercise. "This speaks well for both our public and private health programs in the area, and, no doubt, in part is the result of our living in a medical research oriented community," said Dr. Person.

San Diego's "Operation Heart Alert" surpassed the previous nationwide high in participation in massive blood pressure screenings by 65 percent, topping the results obtained in New Orleans, Louisiana, by approximately 16,500 persons.

Fifth Litter Of Rare Cubs Born at Zoo

The fifth litter of race Siberian tiger cubs born at the San Diego Zoo arrived Sunday and are now on exhibit in the Children's Zoo nursery.

The three cubs—two males and a female, all unnamed—were born to mother Seja Sunday afternoon. It was her third litter. Sinta, the Zoo's other adult Siberian tiger, has had two litters. Father of all the cubs is Kumarsk.

The three newborn cubs are the 10th, 11th and 12th Siberian tigers born at the Zoo since August 25. Nine of the cubs survive.

The cubs are bottle-fed a special milk formula about every two hours, "or whenever their squeals indicate they're hungry," according to nursery attendant JoAnn Thomas. Each cat gets about two ounces of formula per feeding.

At birth, the two males weighed two pounds, 12 ounces; and two pounds, 11½ ounces; and the female weighed two pounds, five ounces. Their eyes are still closed and will remain closed for about a week.

Neither Sinta nor Seja has been able to raise her cubs, so all have been brought to the Children's Zoo nursery for rearing.

World Champ Fights At Coliseum Friday

The champ is in town. George Foreman, who punched the heavyweight boxing crown from the head of Joe Frazier by flooring him six times in 4½ minutes, will face three opponents Friday night at the San Diego Coliseum at 15th and E sts.

Foreman will fight Billy Ryan (8-0); Mike Weaver, a strong gym fighter and Scrap Iron Johnson, an old pro.

Although his appearance is booked as an "exhibition", Foreman claims he will "fight to win" rather than put on an exhibition. He also said he will not wear protective headgear.

His handler, Dick Saddler, refuted that statement before the session at the week-long meeting at the Sportscasters/Sportswriters Assn. was over. Saddler said Foreman will wear headgear. He will be training for his title fight Sept. 1 against 10th-ranking Joe Roman in Tokyo. He accepted the San Diego exhibition to help prepare for that meeting. He prefers to perform before a crowd in occupational atmosphere. He expects to drop about 20 pounds between Friday and the Roman fight.

He is more articulate than other recent champions but he claimed to be "illiterate" in response to a question about his education.

Mickey Davies, operator of the Coliseum, said reserved seats for the Foreman appearance were still available. General admission tickets go on sale Friday. There will be no increase in prices for the champ's appearance.

Foreman's appearance overshadowed what may be the most exciting battle in recent months.

Cowboy Jimmy Hear, who "brought down the house" in a hard-fought decision over Miguel Mayon at the Coliseum two weeks ago, will take on Lobito Montoya of San Jose (40-15-1) to headline the remainder of the card. Hear is 28-0.

In other bouts, there is a 6-rounder between welterweights Gonzalo Rodriguez and Andy Price; a 5-round lightweight battle between Rudy Acuna and Manuel Costillo, and a light-heavy wrap-up between Ron Ligon and Gustavo Perez.

Fight time is 8 p.m.

Local Girls 'Adopt' Camp Wolahi Trees

Some 124 trees will be growing better next week because they were "adopted" by campers at the San Diego Camp Fire Girls' Camp Wolahi. Each group of campers this summer is participating in an "Adopt a Tree" ecology project.

Many types of native trees grow on the 60-acre Cuyamaca site and each camper is asked to select one for her "own" during her stay. The girl then is responsible for cleaning the area around her tree and doing anything that would contribute to the tree's continued growth.

There are still some vacancies for the last three sessions at Camp Wolahi. The camp is open to all girls aged 7 to 17. Girls do not have to be Camp Fire Girl members to attend. Information and applications are available at Camp Fire Girls office, 2067 First avenue.

Girls attending the fourth session this week at Camp Wolahi include Laurie Lukacik and Carla Mteller of Lemon Grove, and Cheryl Frank, Lori Slusher, Kimberly Watson, and Cindy Winebarger, of Spring Valley.

Flourney Calls For Suspension Of Tax Hike

State Controller Hugh Flourney today called for the "fastest possible" action by the Legislature to suspend the sales tax increase for six months while it decides what shall be done with a record $826.8 million surplus.

"I earlier described the sales tax increase as ludicrously unjust in view of an anticipated surplus," Flourney said. "Now that the size of the surplus is a recorded fact, the Legislature owes all California its total concentration and fastest possible action in relieving them of this added tax burden until its need can be fully justified."

Flourney said that the size of the surplus, fixed in his preliminary annual report for fiscal 1972-73 which ended June 30, was the culmination of an "amazing turnaround" in the State's fiscal condition brought on by income tax withholding and a tax reform program enacted in December 1971.

"The demonstrated and continuing success of our revenue structure before the sales tax increase was allowed to become effective on July 1 is proof that the State can get along very well without this additional income for six months," Flourney said. "Certainly the taxpayers deserve such a respite."

MV Band Back From Calgary Stampede

The Monte Vista High School band returned home last week from a three-week trip to the Calgary Stampede, an annual festival in Calgary, Canada.

The 116 band members and chaperones brought back a trophy, $750 in prize money, and earned a standing ovation for their performance at Flare Square.

Special Van To Aid In Study of 'Rumble' Strips

A specially equipped van which measures brain waves, heart beats and skin responses of its drivers was displayed last week at a joint press conference conducted by the California Division of Highways and Human Factor Research, Inc., of Santa Barbara.

Speaking for the Division, Alvord Estep, chief of its traffic branch, said the van is used in a research project to determine the effect of fatigue on driver performance. "More than 50 percent of all fatalities on California's free-ways result from a single vehicle running off the road," Estep said. "Falling asleep or drowsing is suspected of causing a significant part in these accidents."

Dr. James O'Hanlon, senior scientist for physiology of the research institute, described the project which seeks to determine if rumble strips on the pavement shoulder will alert inattentive drivers to regain control of their vehicles or will cause them to over-react should the vehicles leave the traveled lane and pass over them. The testing also helps evaluate the effectiveness of two types of rumble strips.

In the project commissioned by the Division of Highways, young drivers are used in evening hours to drive the van 300 miles non-stop, driving approximately 12 miles in one direction then 12 miles back. Six of the 12 miles in each direction have rumble strips on the shoulders.

The drivers, all of whom have experienced a normal work day, are instructed to keep the vehicle in the right lane and maintain a steady 60 miles per hour. They are wired to electroencephalographs, electrocardiographs and Palmar skin response machines.

An associate of Human Factors Research is seated behind the driver and has foot-operated, aircraft-type controls to take over the vehicle at will. One paid subject fell asleep.

The driver during the test is not allowed to talk, smoke, chew gum, listen to the radio, or open or close windows after once adjusting them to his satisfaction.

Van instruments continuously measure speed, breaking action and steering wheel movements. Sensors in the front wheels measure the roughness of the road and indicate when the van passes over lane delineating markers on the left or drifts off the lane onto the freeway shoulder. A light which does not interfere with the vision of other motorists illuminates the pavement ahead and by the right front wheel, and an outside mounted 16mm camera is triggered when the wheel passes over a rumble strip.

The research observer behind the driver monitors all systems and pushes coded buttons which record traffic conditions, distances to vehicles ahead, passing maneuvers, etc. He also voice records conditions of weather, light, and anything of special interest.

Sky-Grove Stars Whip Chula Vistans For Title

The 1973 Sky-Grove Pony League All-Star Team is the best in San Diego County, and they proved it last week by winning five straight games in the sectional tournament after losing in the opening round.

The local team opened with a hard luck loss, but battled back to win five straight contests, including two straight over previously unbeaten Chula Vista South.

In the opening game of the tournament, Sky-Grove came up against its stiffest competition, Tecolote, and couldn't quite put it all together.

John Young handled the mound chores for the local team, twirling a two-hitter, walking only one batter, and striking out 17 men. Unfortunately, the only two hits came back to back — a single and a home run, giving Tecolote a 2-0 lead, which turned out to be the final score of the game.

Sky-Grove bats were clicking, hitting solid hits, but most fell prey to opposing fielders and were easy outs.

Earl Ritchey fared better in the second game of the uphill battle, twirling a four-hitter over Sun Shine for a 9-1 victory.

Sky-Grove picked up runs on a solo homer in the second by Bruce Frank, a walk and two singles in the third, a double, two singles and an error in the fourth, and an error, a walk, a double and a homer in the fifth. Hitting the two-run circuit clout was Earl Ritchey.

In the third game for Sky-Grove, it was Tecolote again, with the loser of the game to be eliminated from the tourney. John Young again took the mound and this time twirled a three-hit shutout for the victory.

A walk and a single gave Sky-Grove a 1-0 lead in the first inning. In the fourth, a pair of walks and a double by Young brought in two more runs, but Young was thrown out trying to stretch his hit into a triple. Earl Ritchey added the final run by drawing a team competition and had won walk. After stealing second, its only two games.

Ritchey stretched it to third base when the throw was wild. The throw to third hit him in the back, and as the ball tripled down the line, he hustled home for the score.

San Dieguito was the next opponent for Sky-Grove, and again, the loser of the game was to be eliminated from the tournament.

Ritchey pitched and gave up nine hits and four runs, but the Sky-Grove batters pulled him through with nine tallies to win it.

An error, a single, and a home run gave the local team the lead, 3-0, after the first inning. The score was stretched to 5-0 in the second when a walk and two errors let in a pair of runs. In the fourth frame, Ritchey walked and Robert Tiumalu belted a home run to make it 7-0.

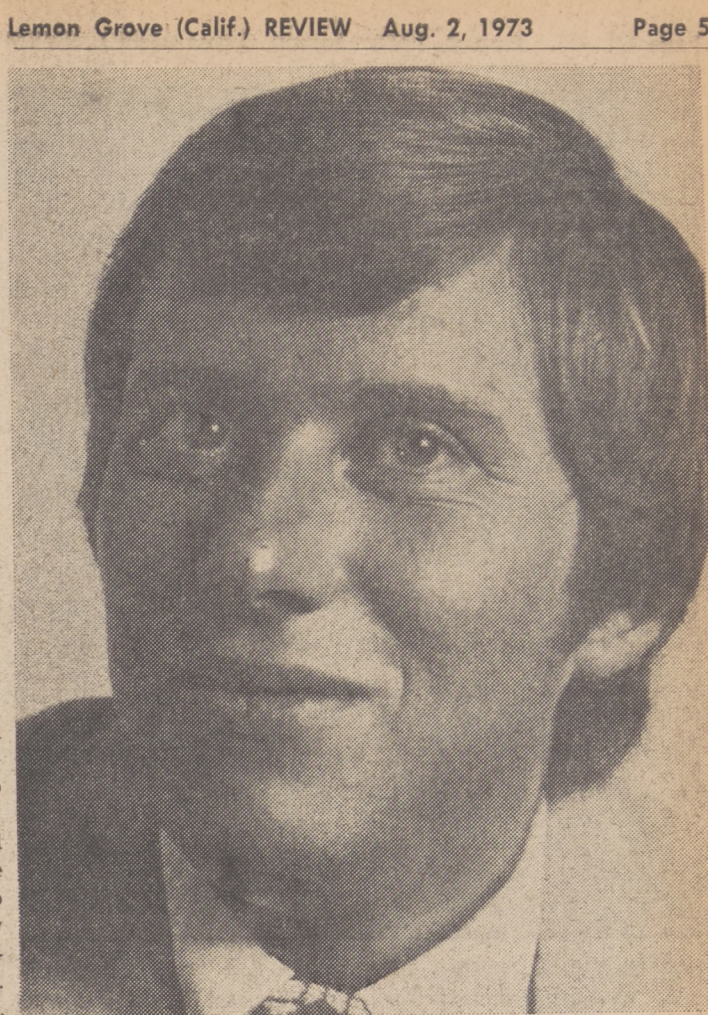

In the top of the fifth, San Dieguito rallied for three runs on a walk, a single and a home run. In the bottom, a walk and a double made it 8-3.

Robert Tiumalu hustled in another run in the sixth by getting aboard when the San Dieguito catcher dropped a third strike. He then swiped second and third base and scored on a single by Craig Leonetti.

A walk and three singles brought in another run for San Dieguito in the seventh before Ritchey put out the fire.

Sunday night, with only two teams left in the tournament, the first "big game" took place, as once-beaten Sky-Grove took on unbeaten Chula Vista South. Sky-Grove, by losing in the opening round, had to win five straight games to win the tourney, and the Sunday game was the fourth.

Chula Vista, by the luck of the draw, had drawn a bye in the first round of the five from Arizona.

MIKE LANGE

Lange Named 'Voice of Gulls'

The San Diego Gulls hockey team has named a new radio broadcaster effective this week.

He is 25-year-old Mike Lange, who succeeds last year's announcer John Brooks. Brooks has accepted a similar position with the Oklahoma City Blazers of the Central Hockey League. Brooks' predecessor was Ron Oakes.

Lange will broadcast all 78 Gulls games — at home and away — over KOGO Radio 60. The opener is Oct. 5 against the Phoenix Roadrunners. It marks the 8th consecutive year of Gulls-KOGO association.

Lange, a Californian and a bachelor, was the voice of the Roadrunners prior to joining the Gulls. He graduated from Sacramento State College with a degree in Radio/TV Arts and was sports director for KERS, Sacramento, from 1968-1970 and was play-by-play announcer for football, basketball, baseball and hockey.

Gulls General Manager Max McNab said Lange is capable of serving in other-than-radio capacities. "Besides handling the broadcasts, he will also be assisting in promotions, sales and publicity."

"His enthusiasm, energy and personality will make him a well-accepted member of the sports community," McNab said.

McNab also announced that administrative assistant Jay La Mesa American beat El Cajon Western last week in the District 41 all-star title game in El Cajon, 1-0, to earn a trip to the sectional tournament hosted by Skyline Little League.

The tournament opened Wednesday and will continue through the weekend. In winning the district tournament, La Mesa relied on curveballer Scott Demchak, who tossed a two-hit shutout at El Cajon, the favored team in the tourney.

El Cajon pitcher allowed only three hits in the six-inning game, but two of those were in the fifth inning, as Mike Bierly doubled, went to third on a fly, and scored on Ron Howerton's single.

NEW LEADER — Johnny Unitas, acquired from Baltimore, will be the new leader of the Chargers when the local team opens the pre-season Saturday. Unitas is one of the all time great quarterbacks.

SD Chargers Host Giants For Pre-Season Opener Saturday

The New York Giants will blast open the professional football season here Saturday at 8 p.m. at the San Diego stadium.

Both the Giants, and the Chargers have some problems that they hope will be solved before League play starts next month.

Coch Harlan Svare has instructed Johnny Unitas to "take it easy" due to an ailing knee that the coach thinks will respond to rest.

In the meantime, Wayne Clark, Charger quarterback-in-waiting will have a chance to show his wares.

Terry Owens is out for about 10 days with a shoulder injury. Mike Garrett pulled a groin muscle and will not play Saturday.

Coach Alex Webster and the Giants will arrive here about 5 p.m. he said Monday by phone to the members of Sportscasters/Sportswriters meeting at the 7 Seas-Hyatt Lodge in Mission Valley.

Giants Larry Jacobson, defensive tackle, stepped on some glass and cut some tendons in his foot. Linebacker Henry Reed has a blood infection and fullback Charlie Evans is still recovering from the effects of last year's broken leg.

The Giants were No. 1 of fensive team in the National Conference with a 320-yard game average in 1972.

Other items of note: TV-RADIO: Channel 39 televises the game for delayed showing on Sunday at 5 p.m.

Horse Owners Get Record $8.79 Million

Thoroughbred owners received a California record of $8,790,000 in purses or an average of $12,850 per race during the 1973 Hollywood Park meeting that ended July 23. Director of Racing F. E. Kilroe reported.

The Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association also received a record sum from the 76-day meeting, which, as announced previously, established State highs in pari-mutuel tax and breakage paid to the State of California, total mutuel handle, daily average mutuel handle and total attendance.

Of the money distributed to horsemen in 684 races, $6,180,000 was paid out in 634 "overnights", the non-stakes races, and $2,610,000 was distributed in 50 stakes or added-money events.

Pat McIntyre of Spring Valley and Jim Hitt of Lemon Grove will both be trying to get the points to take over first place in the standings at Cajon Speedway this Saturday. Currently second and third respectively a couple of wins could move either man to the top spot.

Sixty cars are expected to be on hand at 6:30 p.m. with the four fastest on the line for the 8 p.m. three lap trophy dash.

Speeds and attendance are both up at the El Cajon track with John Dineen of El Cajon beating the one lap mark set in 1971 and Wes Osborn improving on the ten lap mark set the same year. Attendance at last week's NASCAR Tu-berg 150 was over 4,200. Last week's main event of 150 laps was won by Dick Brown of Portland, Oregon, taking home the largest purse ever paid in the 12 year history of the track.

Top San Diego County driver in the race was Carl Adams of Lemon Grove. Adams took eighth place in a Marck Motors Ford Torino.

Greater London's population has declined 6.8 per cent in the last decade as the English move into the country.

Local Wrestlers Try For National Championships

Two area high school wrestlers were among 328 athletes taking part in the National High School Wrestling Championships last week in Iowa City. The matches are sponsored by the U.S. National Wrestling Federation.

Mike Applegate, a 16-year old Monte Vista High junior who lives at 3436 Diversion dr. in Spring Valley, didn't place. But he has two more years in high school competition and "next year I'll win," he said.

Terry Drew, a Grossmont High School senior who lives in El Cajon, had expected to win. He won three bouts and lost two and was disqualified but ranked 13th. He will be ineligible to compete again but he has three years to try for an Olympic medal. He will attend Grossmont Junior College for two years "and then go to a four year college on a scholarship — probably San Jose State," he said.

After he is graduated he will be a high school wrestling coach, he said.

Drew lacked funds to make the trip to Iowa City when he appeared at the weekly Sportscasters / Sportswriters Assn. meeting the week before. The San Diego County Sheriffs Assn. official, Detective Bud Fusaro, heard and S/S/A program on a teevee sports show and got his organization to underwrite Drew's trip.

Orange County Track Changes Management

Orange County International Raceway changed ownership on June 16, according to Larry Vaughan, president of Q.V. Incorporated, the company which holds the new operating lease on the raceway.

The former lessee, Orange County International Raceway Corporation, sold its facilities to the Irvine Company, owner of the land, who re-leased the land and facilities to Q.V. Incorporated.

Vaughan indicated that operations at the nationally famous motor sports facility will continue as before with relatively few changes in the established racing schedule.

He said that Q.V. Incorporated will take over the recently inked agreement with Motor-sports International for the drag racing operations which will be sanctioned by the American Hot Rod Association.

C. J. Hart, general manager, who will be responsible for the AHRA and drag racing events at OCIR, confirmed that, in addition to the previously established major events and weekly amateur programs, two national events will be held in the spring and fall each year hosting the top names in the sport.

Vaughan said that Q.V. Incorporated will also take over the contract with OCIR Speedway & Moto-Cross Inc. who will conduct weekly Moto-Cross and class A Speedway programs.

Cheeseman Heads State Culinary Education Group

William R. Cheeseman, coordinator of Grossmont College's Food Service Management Program, has been elected to the office of Chairman of the California State American Culinary Federation Educational Institute.

Cheeseman, who is also Educational Hospitality Chairman and Consultant for the San Diego Chef's de Cuisine, Inc., said that the objective of the ACFEI through its local chef's association is to promote and identify the new image of a chef through education that will eventually result in state certification and licensing.

To qualify for certification "chefs" will be obliged to join their local Chef's de Cuisine

Association as well as apply for and pass rigid qualifications prepared by the National Chef's Education Certification Committee administered through the local Chef's de Cuisine Association. Such areas as nutrition, sanitation, safety, food and labor cost control and personnel management, will be emphasized. Cheeseman also related that the ACFEI will be responsible for the implementation and articulation of a new food preparation and kitchen management apprenticeship training program that will also be under the control of the local Chef's de Cuisine Association with support from local community colleges, management and labor.

According to Raymond Hilfiger, president of the San Diego Chef's de Cuisine Association and Chef/Instructor at Grossmont College, many of the "chefs" that exist today are not chefs at all; they are merely cooks or general kitchen assistants.

In Europe a certified chef is respected. He is not only experienced in food preparation but in fields of basic supervision and diplomacy. Hilfiger said many European chefs specialize in particular areas after they have completed their apprenticeship program and received their diploma in food preparation.

Horse, Cow Rabies Not Big Threat

The recent occurrence of rabies in two horses from a California ranch prompted the state's health director, J. M. Stubblebine, M.D., to issue a statement last week.

"Rabies in horses or cows usually occurs as a result of bites by a rabid skunk or fox which attacks them in the field. Transmission of the disease from horse to horse or cow to cow practically never occurs," he said.

"No case of rabies transmission from a horse to a human has been documented in California or the United States. A single case of human rabies acquired from a cow was recorded in 1938. Rabies in horses or cows is relatively rare. There have been 42 horses and 202 cows proven to have rabies in California since 1950.

"Rabies is transmitted almost exclusively by bite from one animal to another or from animal to man. It could also be transmitted by direct contact of infectious saliva onto a fresh cut or scratch less than 24 hours old, but actual instances of this occurring are quite rare.

"The exact period of time which an animal may have infectious saliva is not known for most species but it is generally assumed to be from several days before symptoms appear until it dies of the disease."

RV Sales Don't Suffer From Gas Shortage Woes

A survey of Southern California recreation vehicle dealers and manufacturers by the Trailer Coach Association shows that stories about gas shortages aren't keeping R.V. owners or customers off the road or out of the sales lots.

"There's no question," it's entirely easy to travel in recreation vehicles," said Ed Murphy, owner of a Lemon Grove recreation vehicle dealership.

"The first five months of 1973 have shown an R.V. sales increase of more than 15 per cent nationwide and more than 20 per cent increase in San Diego. My own company is up 22 per cent for the second quarter of this year over last year."

Murphy said that more people are buying economy units especially the low profile camping trailers, small travel trailers, pickup campers and mini homes with smaller engines.

MATTRESS—A local man, Bob Kuhne, of 3753 Fairway dr., will have the role of Sir Harry in Starlight '73's production of "Once Upon a Mattress" starting Wednesday at the Open Air Theatre on San Diego State campus.

"Mattress" is the stage adaptation of the kindergarten story "The Princess and the Pea" in which a single pea is put beneath 20 downy mattresses as a test as to the princess' "royalty." There are 24 in the cast and an ensemble of 34. "Mattress" will be presented for two weeks starting August 8th on Wed., Thurs., Fri. and Sat. nights at 8:30.

NINA ADDS SEVEN MORE—Animal Regulation Officer Tommy Ignacio urges Nina to join the many spayed female dogs in San Diego County and reduce the overpopulation of dogs.

Dr. Dean Thackrey, assistant county veterinarian, is emphatic that the pet overpopulation problem is caused by pet owners. The chief offenders are those who allow their animals to roam freely and breed indiscriminately and those who postpone surgical sterilization.

In spite of the large response to the San Diego County spay clinic referral program, the County Animal Regulation department impounds nearly 40,000 dogs annually, about one-half of the total number picked up in the entire county. Of these, about 30 percent are returned to their owners and five percent adopted, but the greater percentage is destroyed.

"While spay clinics may not be the whole answer, they are by far the best solutions we have now to this growing problem," Thackrey.

There are now 19 clinics throughout the County. Information and spay clinic referrals may be obtained by calling 278-9200.

COUNTY AWARD—San Diego County was honored by the National Association of Counties for seven county programs and projects. They were the "Jobs For Mom" project of the Education Service Training agency; the Citizen Participation program organized in conjunction with the county government's reorganization; the Intergovernmental Cooperative Training program; the San Diego Regional Park Implementation program; the San Ysidro Community Social Service project; the Mexican-American Neighborhood Services project; and the Minority Community Affairs project.

The award was given as part of NACo's County Achievement Award program. Through the program, NACo honors counties who have made outstanding progress in some area of endeavor. The awards were presented during NACo's annual conference July 22-25. Receiving the award was Lou Conde, vice chairman of the Board of Supervisors.

Infestation of Japanese Beetles Feared In San Diego County

Six adult Japanese beetles about ten months of the year have recently been found in the ground as a white grub. The City of San Diego in the vicinity of Balboa Park. This highly destructive pest feeds on nearly 300 different kinds of plants, and its discovery poses a threat to home gardens, parks, golf courses, and agriculture if it should become established, according to Kenneth K. Little, Jr., County Agricultural Commissioner.

Ray Rinder, Deputy Agricultural Commissioner in charge of the county's pest detection and eradication program, said that an intensive trapping program, backed up by visual survey, is underway to determine the focal point and extent of the infestation now believed present.

The traps are hung from metal rods about three feet off the ground, and are placed in lawns in local residential areas and in parks. Supplied by the United States Department of Agriculture, the traps are filled with bait consisting of phenethyl propionate and eugenol, an attractant which lures any Japanese beetles in the vicinity.

The Japanese beetle spends the ground as a white grub. They are about an inch long when fully grown, and lie in the soil in a curved position. The grubs feed on the roots of plants, and underground stems of grasses and other plants. Often their feeding goes unnoticed until the plants fail to grow properly, or until they die.

Rinder said the adult beetles emerge from the soil in late spring or early summer and are active from four to six weeks. Then they gradually disappear.

The adult Japanese beetle is a little less than half an inch long and has a shiny green body and bronze-colored outer wings. It has six small tufts of white hairs along each side of its body, under the edges of the wings.

Rinder urges that any San Diego resident who sees what might be a Japanese beetle adult or grub bring it to the County Agricultural Commissioner's office in Vista, Fallbrook, Ramona, Escondido, Chula Vista, El Cajon, or San Diego.

IREM Project to Leave Impact, Director Says

The Integrated Regional Environmental Management Project has come to the County of San Diego, completed its mission, and is quietly leaving. But its impact will be felt for some time according to Ed Coate, the man who ran the two-year project.

The IREM project had its roots in the national concern for environmental quality. The federal government responded to public opinion with new agencies such as the Environmental Protection Agency and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

"Local elected officials have had the least opportunity to develop new methods and techniques to manage the environment, yet, they are the ones most accessible to the citizenry—the ones who get the most personal pressure from the voters," Coate said.

In early 1971, First District Supervisor, now also Chairman of the Board of Supervisors, Jack Walsh and the Chief Deputy Administrative Officer of the County conceived the idea of applying to the Ford Foundation for a grant of $725,000. It was to create a regional environmental management capability at the local level. The application was granted.

Coate was hired from the staff of the White House to manage the ambitious project, arriving in August of 1971. Assembling 40 experts from every facet of environmental sciences, IREM began the Nation's first local government experiment in integrating the whole problem of environmental management with the regulatory approach and conventional land use planning.

IREM's Natural Resource Inventory, a series of pamphlets especially valuable for the academic community, cooperative working relationships with the military, and strong liaison with citizen action groups should provide lasting guidelines for the future, according to Coate.

He listed some of the more important and lasting project accomplishments: Taking the lead in establishing processes for accurate and timely review of environmental impact reports; the investigation of alternative methods for meeting the 1975 air quality standards through a $450,000 grant from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency; the Natural Resource Inventory booklets; community awareness; through the National Science Foundation grant, local university integration; and a computerized information system for predicting environmental impacts.

Coate will use his federal and local governmental experience in his new job as Assistant Regional Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, Region X, in Seattle, Wash. He will be concerned with the states of Washington, Alaska, Idaho and Oregon.

Escrow Group Plans Real Estate Seminar

An all-day seminar for real estate professionals on "The Fine Art of Escrowing" will be sponsored jointly by the San Diego County Escrow Association and the North San Diego County Escrow Association on August 3 at the Convention Center, Fashion Valley, with registration at 9:00 a.m.

The session, emphasizing the practical approach to preparation, problem solving, and expediting escrows, from the viewpoint of the real estate licensee, is one of a series being held throughout the state this year by the California Escrow Association to promote the best possible relationship between the real estate and escrow professions. Previous meetings in Riverside, Fresno and Sacramento have been enthusiastically received. Mrs. Jean Loscher, Chairman of the Seminar Committee, states.

It is suggested that real estate licensees make their reservations as soon as possible as space may be limited. Reservations should be forwarded to San Diego County Escrow Association, c/o Floriane Keener, Southern California First National Bank, P. O. Box 1311, San Diego, CA 92112, with a check for $10, which includes lunch.

Police issued 33,000 tickets last year for illegally parked cars around the Pentagon Building in Washington.

DU Party Plans Underway

Plans are well under way for the 30th annual San Diego Ducks Unlimited fundraising dinner party, which will be held Oct. 17 at the Town & Country Convention Center, according to Ed Waldman, local sportsman, 1973 chairman of the 60-man steering committee planning the event.

Waldman succeeds Norman C. Roberts of Point Loma as head of the local DU chapter, claimed to be one of the most active volunteer water-fowl organizations in the country. Assisting Waldman is Richard Tuthill, vice chairman. Other new officers include Bill Simmons, treasurer; Roeliff Randerson, assistant treasurer; William F. Black, secretary; and Nolan Wright, assistant secretary.

Chairman Waldman is determined to break last year's record-breaking party attendance and money-raising efforts, which netted $38,300 in a single evening for the ducks. "Since this is our 30th annual affair, we are all pledged to make this our finest and best," Waldman said.

Funds raised by the San Diego DU chapter are sent to Chicago headquarters and dispensed on the Canadian breeding grounds where 80 per cent of the ducks raise their young. Current project is the James S. Copley "duck factory," one of five financed in past year by local duck parties.

New Gas Generators To Meet Standards

Three gas turbine generators which San Diego Gas & Electric Company plans to add to its system by 1974 will meet all applicable environmental regulations, a company representative said last week.

E. M. Gabrielson, of the utility's engineering land department, reported at a hearing of the Coastal Commission that the new units will meet San Diego County Air Pollution Control District's clean air emission standards and will not impinge on coastal natural resources as defined in the Coastal Conservataion Act.

The three gas turbines are planned for construction at the South Bay Power Plant in Chula Vista. They will cost a total of $16.2 million and will provide a maximum generating capability of 160,000 kilowatts.

Gabrielson said the APCD has issued a permit to the company to operate the gas turbines. He also reported that the City of Chula Vista has issued a building permit for the new units and that the Comprehensive Planning Organization supports SDG&E's application for certification from CPUC for construction at the South Bay Power Plant site.

Drunk Driver Revocations See Big Hike

Among the total 75,480 California drivers licenses revoked or suspended during the first six months of this year, 28,800 were for drunk driving, according to State Director of Motor Vehicles Robert C. Cozens.

This is a jump of 27 percent over the 22,693 total for drunk driving during the first half of last year.

Cozens attributed the sharp increase to intensified enforcement by local police and the Highway Patrol, and also noted that drunk driving and felony violation arrests have nearly doubled over the past 12 months.

"It's not that there are more drinking drivers," Cozens said. "The increase in arrests and suspensions just reflects increased law enforcement activity, including more intense and skillful application of the implied consent and presumptive limits laws."

Telespanish Late

Hardison's Telespanish, the popular weekly feature of this newspaper, does not appear in today's paper because of its late arrival. It is expected to resume next week.

High beef prices have brought about a 20 per cent increase in cattle rustling in Texas in the past two years, say cattlemen.

Law Enforcement Days Aug. 11-19 at Sea World

Law Enforcement agencies from throughout San Diego County will set up displays and offer demonstrations at Sea World, August 11-19, during the first annual "Law Enforcement Days" at the 80-acre marine park.

Participating in the nine-day event will be representatives of the San Diego County Sheriff's Office demonstrating search and rescue techniques with use of dogs, helicopter and trail bikes.

The San Diego Police Department will staff an exhibit on the "Life of a Police Officer," functions of community relations, home security, radio monitoring and ambulance calls. Chula Vista and National City Police Departments will offer discussions and displays on crime prevention, search and rescue, police dispatching, and a specially equipped propane patrol car.

Sea World, open every day from 9 a.m. to dusk, is located just off I-5 on Sea World Drive. Free parking is provided.

Spurred by the largest monthly collection in its three year history, the Adolph Cors Company's "cash-for-cans" aluminum recycling program is steaming ahead of 1972's mid-year tally by 18 percent.

January through June figures, reported by Cors distributors in 11 western states show aluminum collections totaling 15,836,631 pounds, an increase of 2,431,880 pounds over the same period a year ago.

For June, the collections amounted to 3,434,198 pounds—the largest single monthly total since the recycling effort was announced in January of 1970. The previous record was August of 1972 when 3,198,372 pounds of aluminum beverage containers were collected.

"We first began our program based on a firm belief in the concepts of recycling," said William K. Coors, president of the regional brewery.

"And behind these collection figures are thousands of people who evidently also believe in this concept."
